THE OPERA.

Some one writing for the New York Evening Post imaginary letters from Mohammed Pasha in New York to his friend Abel Ben Hassan in Turkey, makes the Turkish Admiral give the following opinion of the Opera:

"I cannot repress my admiration at the ingenious nature of the opera-to me a musical novelty. It appears to be a representaof the dramatist. A tenor is always an un- For sale by fortunate lover, and, like all lovers, immensely self-conceited. A soprano is a pale and theoretically beautiful maiden, with a stern parent, a proclivity to balconies, moonshine, and tears, and a resolute determination to tomb. A baritone is a viliain of cut-throat the unhappy couple aforesaid. A basso profundo is either a villain of more consummate rescality, or a servant of low but bumorous cunning, or a soldier of deep lungs and strict merality, just as the composer may deem expedient. A contralto is either a peasant girl who knows nothing, a gipsey who knows everything, or a page of tempting appearance, whose business it is to do as little as possible for the benefit of society, and as much as p sasible in the way of mischief. "The chorus is a collection of very ugly but quite barmless persons of both sexes, who are alternately dejected and delighted, as the principal characters are sad or merry, and who manifest their emotions by a small number of chords and a large number of discords. They also incidentally explain such portions of the plot and action of the opera as would otherwise be entirely incomprehensible. In the meantime the orchestra plays the part of commentators with oncommon skill. Is the soprano weary of the world? The fintes and hauthove sob and sigh. Is the tenor gradually arriving at the conclusion that this world is a Sabara with but one casis -- or that be has not loved the world nor the world him? The violins and cornets wail and pout with neeledious woe. Does the contralto take pleasure in informing her stalwart persecutor that he has just burned his own brother?-The violencellos and trombones unite to express the astonishment of the bereaved party. Is the muscular villain preparing to make all good angels weep? The ophecleides and double and contra basses give notice of his diabolical designs by groans and hisses, and curses deep and loud. Is confusion, moral and social, prevalent upon the scene? The entire force of the instrumentation is employed to give the hearer a lively idea of the wreck of matter, and the crush of worlds, and chaos come again.

"Thus, O Able Ben Hassen, you see with what natural and pleasing pictures of human existence the Americans are accustomed to regale themselves, at the corner of Fourteenth street and Irving place."

END OF A BLASPHEMER -- For some time past a party of intemperate, disreputable characters who call themselves "Bushwhackers," have amused themselves by holding burle-que prayer-meetings at a shanty in Germantown. The orgies of the party have caused much annoyance to the neighborhood, and the services of the police have been invoked to abate the nuisance. On Saturday a notice was stuck up in Germantown of which the following is a literal "NOTIS To the people of Germantown and its vicinity that A P Raer meeting will be held on Saturday Evening at the Shop of J C Clem, By Order of A Committee of The Bush-Secretary, Fear Nothing. President I am in the Field.

any one caught destroying this shall be dealt with according to law.

On Saturday evening 30th." The police were at the spot designated and prevented the disgraceful exhibition. It was understood that a man named John Thomrson was the President of the "Bushwackers." This morning, about 5 o'clock, the dead body of Thompson was found in a ditch near Germantown. There was a bad gash in his head caused by falling through a bridge on the Chesnut Hill railroad. It is not known whether the death of the unfortunate man was caused by the injury to his head, or by drowning. It is almost certain, however, that he met his death last night while intexicated. The death of the man, particularly under the peculiar circumstances is shock-

The charter of this Company offers more fa vorable advantages to the farmer and others. than any other company chartered in the State by insuring with or without a premium note -If the applicant prefer, he can pay the full amount of the premium in cash, or by effecting a cash insurance for two years, the insured saves one eighth of the amount he would otherwise have to pay: or by becoming a member, and giving a small premium note, the insured saves nearly one half of the amount charged by Stock Companies, when insuring from year to year. This is the advantage resulting from the combine

THE CASH AND MUTUAL PRINCIPLE This company commenced issuing Policies against loss or damage by fire, on the 16th March, 1854, since which time over five thou sand seven hundred persons have insured and be come members of the Company, and over thirty thousand dollars have been paid for losses. Having trebled our business during the past year, we feel grateful for the liberal patronage bestowed upon the Company thus far, and for its flattering prospects of future usefulness. The Directors hope and believe that by prudence, caution and a rigid system of economy, they will establish for this Company a reputation for cheapness and safety, not surpassed by any Company in the U. States. All differences in settlement of losses, may be determined by three disinterested arbitrators of the County where such loss happened to be mutually chosen by the insured and the Company.
